

Tuesday, March 04, 2014

To Whom It May Concern,

RE: ASP.NET Software Engineer

I am writing to apply for the position of 'ASP.NET Software Engineer ' at your company, which was advertised on Craigslist on February 26th.

My name is Dave Alton, and I am currently studying at British Columbia Institute of Technology. I am taking a program focused entirely on software development. Every day, we focus on learning many of the top languages and skills in the field.

I have enclosed my CV to support my application. It shows that I would bring important skills to the position, including:

- C#
- ASP.NET
- .NET
- Java
- JavaScript
- CSS
- HTML
- JSON
- SQL Server

I would enjoy having the opportunity to talk with you more about this position, and how I could use my skills to benefit your organisation.

Thank you for considering my application. I look forward to hearing from you.

Yours faithfully,

Dave Alton

PS: This job was not manually applied for. I wrote a program to apply for jobs for me. It writes a cover letter based on your needs with my skills and sends it to you along with my resume. To see the code, go here: <https://github.com/TheNewReborn/C-Sharp-CraigslistJobSearcher>. I did however verify that this job was something I would be interested in before letting my computer apply on my behalf.